

GERMANY STANDS READY TO MAKE CONCESSIONS IN TRADE WAR TANGLE

IN BERNSTORFF PRESENTS NOTE TO STATE DEPARTMENT OUTLINING STAND OF BERLIN GOVERNMENT.

GREAT BRITAIN BLAMED

Germany Will Not Attack Merchantmen If England Will Abandon Efforts to Prevent Food Shipments.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 15.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, today presented to the state department a note from his government announcing that Germany stands ready to consider conceding from its announced intention of attacking British merchantmen if Great Britain will withdraw its efforts to prevent foodstuffs from reaching Germany for the civilian population.
The note declares that Germany's plan to attack British merchantmen is a retaliatory measure adopted because of alleged violation of international law by Great Britain in trying to starve the non-combatant population of Germany, and that the latter government is ready to withdraw from its purpose as expressed in the naval zone decree as far as it applies to merchant vessels, as soon as Great Britain, either of its own volition, or as a result of representations from the neutrals, expressed its willingness to return to the usual practices of international law on the question of foodstuffs.
Charges Against England.
The German note adds that the British government has information that English merchant ships are being armed and have orders to sail in groups for protection, and further, that they would not resist submarine attacks. It declared that there was now no question about searching them because they are now held to be warships.
The note declares further that Great Britain, according to information of Germany, intended to use neutral flags and that, therefore, neutral shipping would be in danger in the war zone.
It was stated that the note received by the ambassador today from his foreign office and carried by him personally to the state department, was not a reply to the recent American note in regard to the war zone decree. A more comprehensive and detailed reply to that communication is expected soon, although it was not known officially here when it might be looked for.
Germans Blame England.
Berlin, via London, Feb. 15.—The newspapers of Berlin continue commenting today upon the recent diplomatic exchanges by the United States and Great Britain and Germany concerning the protection of American shipping on the coast of the British Isles. Generally they characterized the American note to Great Britain as too much concerned with the war zone to Germany, but they make use of this note to support their contention that Great Britain is to blame for the situation. The Kreuz Zeitung says:
"The American note properly takes the British government to task for the conspicuous misuse of the American flag, a course which menaces the safety of neutral shipping, therefore it is more difficult to understand what the American government wants of us. The German people will not be able to forget either the question addressed to us or the form of their asking. Our position has not changed. The United States has two ways to protect herself from harm. The first is to stop Great Britain's use of the American flag, and second is to keep her ships and people out of the war zone. If she adopted this method she will not only avoid harm, but will bring a quick end to the war."
No Difference in Tone.
The Lokal Anzeiger says:
"It is evident that the United States is pressing the matter with the same firmness in London as in Berlin. The British have now been told fairly and squarely that the entire responsibility is upon them if American lives or property are sacrificed through misuse of the flag. There is no difference in the tone of the two notes."
On the other hand the Morgan Post has a different opinion and calls the American note to Great Britain notably different from the German: "In its soft and futile like tone."
The Tages Zeitungs says that the United States in its note to Great Britain with helpful care "leaves England a convenient door of escape."
This paper says it does not understand why neutral powers will not see they are saving off the branch on which they sit when they do not protect at this dangerous time the purpose of which is to bring about a cessation of hostilities, which forshadow their destructions.
Urges Neutral Action.
"Why do not the neutrals with the United States at their head demand of all the warring parties that they follow the London declarations in all its particulars?" In that event the British North Sea blockade would become operative; the contraband question would be controlled internationally and the course of action Germany intends to pursue after February 18, would no longer be necessary. The United States should take this step, the Tages says in conclusion. "For the declaration of London is the protection of the rights of neutrals."
Ridicules American "Threat."
Amsterdam, Feb. 15.—The Montag Zeitung of Berlin, according to a dispatch reaching here from the German capital, in an article referring to the stand of the United States asks what harm America can do to Germany. "She has no army," this paper says, "and her fleet would not dare to approach nearer shores than does the British. The expulsion of Germany from America would mean her

JOHN BULL'S WALLET COULD CARRY ON WAR THROUGH FIVE YEARS

Lloyd George Tells Commons Financial Status of Allies' Purse Strings.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Feb. 15.—In a statement explanatory of the arrangements made at the recent conference between the finance ministers of France and Russia and himself in Paris, David Lloyd George told the house of commons this afternoon that the expenditure of the allies on the war would be $10,000,000,000 of which Great Britain was spending more money than were her two allies.
The present war, Mr. Lloyd George said, was the most expensive in material, men and money that had ever been waged.
Great Britain, the chancellor of the exchequer told the house of commons, could finance the war for five years out of the proceeds of her investments abroad. France was able to do so for about two or three years with something to spare. Russia, he said, although prodigiously rich in natural resources, was in a different position.
Mr. Lloyd George said that it was decided at the conference of the finance ministers in Paris not to issue a joint loan.

WILHELMINA CARGO STILL UNTOUCHED

No Arrangements Have Yet Been Made As to Distribution of Products.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Feb. 15.—No disposition has yet been made of the cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmina. The ship now seems to be under the voluntary joint guardianship of the British foreign office and the American ambassador.
The Wilhelmina, which sailed from New York with a cargo of foodstuffs for Germany, is at present at Falmouth, A. G. Kays, an attorney representing the Greene Commission company, the consignors of the cargo of the Wilhelmina, called at the American embassy today and will go down to Falmouth tonight. He said he had not yet received instructions concerning the case, but in the meantime was endeavoring to learn all he could about the status of the vessel and her cargo.
Petrograd, Feb. 15.—The forced retirement of the Russian army from East Prussia is expected to result in a reversion by the Russians to their original plan of conducting a defensive campaign on their own territory. It is pointed out here that this should result in advantage to the Russians in that Germany will be deprived of the transportation facilities which she was able to use with great effectiveness during the fighting within her own borders.
When an offensive campaign was undertaken and the Russians invaded East Prussia and Galicia early in the war, the Germans were forced to withdraw a large number of troops from the west. This was considered here a contribution largely to the German reverse in the battle of the Marne.
Emperor Nicholas today returned to Tarsko-Selo from a visit to the Russian army headquarters at the front.

The members of the royal family of Montenegro were subjected yesterday in their residences at Rieka to machine gun fire from two Austrian aeroplanes.
Rieka is a village near Lake Scutari where the royal family passes the winter. King Nicholas, the queen and the princesses watched the aerial raiders from their palace windows.

PROVINCES TO ITALY WHEN ITALIANS THROW BALANCE TO GERMANY

KAISER WANTS NATION TO CLEAN EGYPT OF ENGLISH. —FLEET TO BATTLE ALLIES' SHIPS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rome, Feb. 15.—The idea Nazional, a newspaper published in the interests of the nationalist party in its issue of Sunday, published a forecast of German proposals to Italy which reads as follows:
"Before the end of February Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador to Italy, will present to the Italian government a concrete proposal for Italian participation in the war on the side of Germany. This consists of the cessation by Austria of the province of Trent and the rectification of the frontier between Italy and the addition of a strip of land going as far as the Isone river. In addition Germany will pledge herself to the Italian government to supply Italy with all foodstuffs and raw materials."
"In exchange Italy is to take part at once in the war. She will occupy Tunis and help Turkey drive the British from Egypt which will return under the domination of the Italian fleet."
Continuing the newspaper says that Prince Von Buelow, referring to Trieste, made this statement:
"It is impossible to give Trieste to Italy because this seaport is the lung, not of Austria, but of Germany."
At the conclusion of one of his conversations with the Italian statesmen, Prince Von Buelow, according to this paper, made use of this phrase:
"Either Italy will be friendly toward us or we will treat her worse than we are treating England."

Of the 11,713 tons of all supplies shipped up to date of report, 652 tons were medical stores. The commission announces that need for food in Belgium is increasing.

HAVE BUT ONE OUTBREAK IN AUSTRALIA AGAINST GERMANS
(Correspondence Associated Press.)
Melbourne, Feb. 15.—The only outbreak of any kind against Germany directed against Germans since the war began occurred recently when a mob burned down the German club at Broken Hill, a large mining city. The trouble originated through the apparently insane act of two Turks, who, conceiving it to be their duty to attack Britons because Great Britain was at war with Turkey, armed themselves with rifles, and in hiding along the railway line fired into a train of picknickers, killing four and wounding seven persons. The Turks were finally shot to death by police and military men, but the aftermath of the tragedy was gathering of turbulent Britons in the foreign quarter of Broken Hill that night, loud in their charge that the attack upon the picnic crowd was attributable to the Germans. The mob marched to the German club, smashed all the windows in the building with stones and saturated the house with oil, they set the place on fire.

ITALY FLOOD SWEPT; HUNDREDS HOMELESS

Heavy Rain Storms Cause New Disaster Rivaling Earthquake.—Big Damage at Rome.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rome, Feb. 15.—The great staircase of 300 steps in Rome leading from the Trastevere station to the Monteverde section, a hilly quarter of the city, is at this hour threatening to collapse because of undermining of the waters.
Rome, Feb. 15.—Italy, having just passed through a period of grave anxiety as a result of continuing earthquakes, is now facing a peril in the form of floods. Everywhere streams are out of their banks, due to heavy rainstorms which have continued for several days.
In the low lying quarters the people have been driven from their homes or are prisoners in the upper stories of their houses. The floods have turned the low lying quarters of the city into a second Venice, as the streets are now all waterways and boats are the only means of progression.
The flood waters in the streets around St. Peter's have risen to a height of four feet and 11 inches. Several walls have collapsed, but without serious consequences. At least 100 houses in the town have been flooded, the people being forced to leave their homes to seek refuge on the second floors. The rivers throughout the section are overflowing their banks.

WILL ALLOW BILLS AFTER WEDNESDAY

State Senate Will Not Adhere To Rule Limiting Time To Introduce Measures.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—The rule that introduction of bills must cease after next Wednesday will not be rigidly adhered to in the upper house, which is disposed to allow a few days more time. In the house Speaker Walker and leaders are insistent that no new bills be introduced after Wednesday night. This will not prohibit the introduction of bills through committees and it is understood that most of the administration measures will come through committees.
Assemblyman John E. Ostfeld of Eau Claire came near to being the victim of his own bill. Last week he introduced a resolution to compel members desisting themselves from absences to refund $5 to the state treasury for each day gone. It failed of adoption, however. Recently finding pressing business at home demanding his return, he secured a leave of absence. Several assemblymen arose to claim the floor and ask that the author of the penalty measure set a good example himself by refunding $5 to the state for his absence.
The first vote to adopt my resolution at once," replied Mr. Ostfeld, but you turned it down. So the resolution is not in effect and does not apply to me any more than to you.

Mayor Mitchell Petitions President to Place Embargo on Wheat and Flour—Matter Up to Congress.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 15.—President Wilson today received a letter from Mayor Mitchell of New York urging that an embargo be placed on exportation of wheat to check the rise in price of bread and flour. The president has previously taken the stand that congress alone has the authority to declare such an embargo. Representative Farr of Pennsylvania has a bill pending in the house for the purpose.

BRITISH PASSPORTS ARE PRINTED SO SPIES CAN'T CHANGE OR FORGE THEM.

London, Feb. 15.—All British passports are now issued in such manner that it will be impossible for spies and other enemies to alter them so they can be used by other than the persons to whom issued.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Over all the surface of the passport where descriptions and signatures are to be placed fine lines are printed in red ink. The application of acid to this surface makes the red ink run and instantly shows the passport has been tampered with. Instead of stamping the photographs on the new passports with a seal which does not cut through a new seal has been devised which perforates the passport and the passport making extremely difficult to substitute other pictures.
On the new passports wives accompanying their husbands will be required to have their own little attention has been paid to women traveling as the wives of passport holders, but the appearance of women spies in various parts of Europe has aroused the authorities, and they will hereafter watch the movements of women more carefully.

AIR RAIDS RUMORED ON CANADIAN TOWNS

Dominion Police Officials Believe Reports That Hostile Aeroplanes Threaten Are Unfounded.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—After an all night watch for the air raiders in three aeroplanes who were reported to have crossed the St. Lawrence river at Montserrat, New York, and to have dropped a fire ball as they passed over Brockville, the Dominion police officials today said that reports were of the opinion today that the report was unfounded.
Two Aeroplanes Reported.
The two aeroplanes said to have flown into Canada from the direction of Montserrat, New York, last night, returned to the United States across the St. Lawrence river, flying over Brockville about 1:30 o'clock this morning, according to the Dominion police. The incident, it was said, would be reported to the state department at Washington.
Various persons told the police that the first of the machines approached Brockville at 8:10 o'clock last night, and that the second followed in the same path about 20 minutes later. Both were said to have disappeared in the direction of Ottawa.
A report was telegraphed here and lights in and around the public buildings and government houses were extinguished.
A daughter of Edward Billings, a farmer living near Brockville, said that the aeroplanes were only 500 feet above him. Both machines went over Brockville, the police assert, on their way back to the United States.

IMPORTANT RULING BY SUPREME COURT

Case in Which Action Was Thrown Out of Calendar Comes Into Prominence Again.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—The supreme court has ordered the brief of Thomas L. Baker against the Wisconsin case in the case of Joseph L. Casper, respondent, vs. Kall-Zimmers Manufacturing Company, to be heard today from the files because of the disrespectful language to the court. The opinion in the matter is written by Justice Vinje, and says that the motion for rehearing was granted because of such a rule appeared doubtful inasmuch as democratic senators are far from being unanimous on the proposal.

NO WARSHIPS NEEDED SAYS SENATOR JONES

Washington, Feb. 15.—Not a single battleship should be built by this country this year," declared Senator Jones, of Washington, in discussing the naval appropriation bill. "I will not make any fight to prevent one or two battleships, but I will fight for reasons. The most important is that the Naval Board seems to wish to keep up a certain program and I have no wish to interfere with that. But as the building of more battleships do not believe that the construction of one, two, three or four battleships this year would add materially to the strength of the power of resistance of the United States."

"This great war now raging in Europe, and for that matter all over the world, has demonstrated one thing very clearly, and that is that a little bit of money, a few millions of dollars, three hundred thousand dollars and carrying less than one hundred men, can with comparatively immunity sink a big dreadnaught of the enemy that cost $15,000,000 and carries a crew of about 1,000 men. When struck by the torpedo from the submarine, incidentally, the big boat becomes a mere deathtrap for her large crew, including the scores of officers and men. The government owning the dreadnaught had spent so much money to educate and train.
"The greatest lesson which we have learned in this warfare is far in this conflict, therefore, is the power and effectiveness of the submarine. Yet that is where the United States is weaker than in almost any other branch, always, excepting aeroplanes. Where it is weaker than anywhere else. This country should profit by the lesson which the countries of Europe have spent so much money to demonstrate, the enormous value of the submarine to harass and pick off the big fighting ships of the enemy. We should proceed to equip our navy with a large unit of submarines and train a large fleet of submarines and training of these boats, the accurate shooting of torpedoes from them.
"There is another item which should be included in the naval appropriation bill. That is a liberal allowance for the building of more colliers and supply ships for the navy. I regarded it as a disgrace that this country had to charter ships flying a foreign flag to accompany our fleet on its round the world because we did not have enough supply ships and colliers in the navy, or for that matter in the American registry."

Is Common Sense Uncommon?

Looking at some so-called national advertising campaigns one is prompted to ask:
"Is common sense uncommon?"
All sorts of round-about methods are sometimes used to reach the consumer and the sure and inexpensive method, THE DAILY NEWS-PAPER, is overlooked.
The newspaper is not a link in an advertising chain; it is a complete method of campaign in itself.
It reaches a definite circle of consumers regularly and consistently.
It reaches a definite circle of retail dealers.
It influences consumers and distributors and it produces prompt and definite results.
Manufacturers interested in getting better results from their publicity are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

PROBE OF LOBBYING FOR SHIP PURCHASE ORDERED IN SENATE

Administration Democrats and Filibustering Republicans Agree On Inquiry.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 15.—Investigation of all charges of influences at work for or against the administration ship bill was ordered today by the senate.
Administration democrats and filibustering republicans unanimously voted for a resolution to look into the charge of lobbying by the so-called shipping trust and to inquire into any negotiations by administration officials to buy all belligerent ships.
"While the house democrats worked earnestly to clear the way for caucus approval of the compromise bill to build the senate was slow to accept the compromise for limiting debate. It seemed probable that a senate rule for speedy consideration of the compromise as it comes from the house might result, but the democrats, however, continued to promise plenty of opposition.
Secretary McAdoo notified Senator Fletcher that he should be built by this office regarding any negotiations for belligerent ships laid up in American ports was available whether the senate passed Senator Burton's resolution calling for it or not.
Talk of an extra session of congress was uppermost at the capital today, even overshadowing the administration ship bill. It seemed to be agreed on all sides that the development of this week will decide the question of the session.
Washington, Feb. 15.—The fight to break up the naval filibuster in the senate against the administration ship purchase bill as amended with the special rule limiting debate, was continued today. The democratic leaders were determined when the senate met to vigorously press for an amendment to the rules which would limit debate. This is in accordance with the party caucus agreement. Despite this fact, however, a number of such a rule appeared doubtful inasmuch as democratic senators are far from being unanimous on the proposal.

BOND ORDINANCE IS GIVEN ITS READINGS

Ordinance Drafted By City Attorney
Dougherty Given First and Second Readings on Saturday.

The ordinance providing for the issue and sale of negotiable municipal bonds of the city of Janesville in the sum of eighty thousand dollars, for the purpose of providing funds for the purchase of the water works, was given its first and second reading at the adjourned council meeting held by the city commission Saturday afternoon.

The ordinance authorizes and directs the issue of bonds in one hundred and sixty bonds of five hundred dollars each. The bonds shall bear the date of the day of April, 1915, and will be serial in issue and shall be payable, principal and interest, within twenty years. The name given the bonds is "Janesville Water Works Bonds," and shall show on their face the amount of indebtedness of the city at the date of their execution and issue, the annual amount of the assessment tax to be levied on the property for the five years next preceding their issue, and the average amount thereof; shall be payable to the bearer and shall not be sold for more than their par value and accrued interest.

For the purpose of providing for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds, and when the same shall become due, there shall be levied an annual tax on all the taxable property in the city of Janesville, in addition to other taxes, sufficient to pay the interest of the bonds, as they shall become due, and also to pay the principal of said bonds at their maturity.

By the ordinance the city clerk is authorized to cause the requisite number of bonds to be lithographed at the expense of the city according to the form which was approved by the mayor and council. A special committee consisting of Mayor Fathers, City Treasurer Muenchow and City Attorney Dougherty is authorized by the proposed ordinance to negotiate and sell the bonds and turn over the money received from the sale to the city treasurer for the purchase of the water plant.

After the reading of the ordinance, approving the form of bonds, and ordering the ordinance to be published, the council adjourned. The complete ordinance will be found under the legal notices.

RAPID RISE OF RIVER DUE TO HEAVY RAINS

Downpour on Friday Evening and Saturday Brings Water Two Feet Above Mark.

Rising temperature throughout the latter part of the week and the incessant rain which fell Saturday and Friday night caused a rapid rise in river waters here Saturday night and Sunday. Yesterday the government marker at the upper electric plant showed a rise of twenty-six inches.
The gauge was a little less than twenty-three inches above the mark.

The high water brought out a considerable amount of river ice, although that on Lake Koshkonong is reported to be still intact. While the ice was heavy and the cakes quite large there was no trouble experienced with flows here. Beloit is said to have had quite an amount of anxiety regarding the safety of the Grand avenue or down town bridge, as the heavy cakes were striking hard and shivering the piling beneath the buildings built over the river. One section of the bridge is reported to have been unable to withstand the pressure forced upon it, and to have gone out.

The dropping temperature yesterday afternoon brought a quietness on flood dangers locally for the present, and it was expected this morning that a general lowering of river waters would be shortly experienced.

Hugh Stockman, whose record in the municipal court is one of the worst, having been before court an unnumbered times, was arraigned on the charge of drinking liquor and being intoxicated while serving a commitment law sentence. The police have had considerable trouble in dealing with Stockman while he was serving time, and this morning Chief Chapman refused to bring him before court. The last time Stockman was before Judge Maxfield he was given a year in jail, the pledge, and his time was not out until March. He has been given the "old cur" or "the worst cur" at the county jail but as yet the authorities have been unable to stop his intemperate habits as he is supposed to be mentally deranged.
The court will conduct a hearing on the charge tomorrow morning. Both men were arrested Sunday, McComb being taken by the police from his home.

MAY DECIDE ON PLAY AT MEETING TONIGHT

Every Member of Drama Club Is Requested to Be Present at Important Session This Evening.

One of the most important meetings of the year for the members of the Janesville Drama society will be held this evening at seven-thirty. The subject of giving a play before the public this year will be brought up again for further discussion, and there is a possibility that the members will take final action tonight. Many members will present lists of plays which they believe could be acted out by the local organization satisfactorily. Every member realizes that the play this year must be as good if not better than the production of last June, as far as acting is concerned. The club is enthusiastic over giving a play, whether it be a melodrama or a comedy drama.

A short program will be given tonight in addition to the business that is to come up. The last act of the play "Disraeli" will be read by a picked cast.

AT MYERS THEATRE.
Tuesday evening, Feb. 16, is Billy Watson's Beef Trust Beauties, which will be seen in a two act burlesque entitled "The Parisian Widow." The Parisian Widow is a burlesque that can be classed with the best musical comedies. The company is composed of clever comedians and play girls. The music the latest up to date songs and dances. As a special feature Rosina, a noted Turkish dancer will show her grace in classical Oriental dances. An entire scenic production is carried. The costumes are superb showing many changes of beautiful gowns.

AT MYERS THEATRE.
The nerves of audiences are stretched taut like violin strings at the performance of "TO-DAY," the modern drama of New York life, which will come to Myers Theatre, two days, Saturday and Sunday, February 20th and 21st, matinee Saturday.

Having behind it the record of an entire season at the Forty-Eighth street Theatre in London, this play has the most startling and sensational climax of any offering on the boards.

The stage is in darkness, on it stands a husband who has, through a third person (a woman) made an appointment to meet his own wife. Through two acts the woman has enabled her to obtain the pretty clothes and jewels. To the husband with murder and justice in his heart, enters the wife. She thinks that the fact that the lights are out is because of a feeling of romance in the heart of the stranger. She comes into the room gaily and laughingly. The man grasps her hand and the lights are thrown on.

This is what leads up to the climax in George Broadhurst's great play, but the big scene has been prepared for in the action that has gone before. In the first act, we see the husband losing his money and business, and the wife forced to sell her jewels. In the second act we see her in that, still longing for the pretty things, in the succeeding act she has leaped the gap between a good woman and a bad one, and is reveling in all the handsome clothes she craves. In the final act the husband discovers her means of revenue, through the fact that he has become the renting agent for the apartment house his wife visits to sell herself to keep up appearances. Then comes the big scene!

The company presenting "TODAY" in this city is a notable one, including the following well known players, Hal Thompson, Arthur J. Wood, Anton Asher, Frank Stone and the Misses Eleanor Miller, Marie Reichardt, Marie Dantes, Phoebe Bates and Sara Hubbard. Harry Von Tilzer, music director of the Manuscript Producing Company has supplied a splendid new production for his gigantic success.

AT THE APOLLO.
"The Ghost Breaker" Tonight. The Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Co. takes pleasure in the production of H. H. Warner, the noted Broadway favorite, in last season's greatest Broadway dramatic hit, "The Ghost Breaker," by Paul Dickey and Charles W. Goddard.

The sensation which the original production of this work created when it was offered at the Lyceum Theatre and immediately hailed by all the critics as an unequalled success, must still be fresh in the minds of all people who follow the trend of dramatic events. It came to the two dollar houses as something novel and refreshing—something filled with good red blood and far from the

TEXAS NOT TO DIVIDE, BUT BILL SERVES PURPOSE.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Austin, Texas, Feb. 15.—The bill to make a separate state out of the Panhandle section of Texas, although buried in committee today and fated to die by sentiment for the "grand old state," served its purpose. It was, as its author, Senator W. A. Johnson, pointed out in the preamble of his resolution, to force the restricting of Texas in accordance with the last census.

The charge was specifically made that liquor interests were largely responsible for the failure to redistrict and give the Panhandle section fair representation in Congress. "Each time the legislature to control state politics" was mentioned, and the inhabitants of the proposed new state of Jefferson "wished to free of such domination," it was stated. Immediately following the Johnson resolution, a redistricting bill was introduced and today was believed to be certain of passage at this session of the legislature.

The great size of Texas is known to every school child in America. The proposition to divide Texas into two or even more states is not a new one. But this year the suggestion was received with less ridicule than ever and a few political wiseacres were willing to predict that in the not far distant future such a bill would have a fair chance of passing the legislature.

Sell your house or any other piece of real estate you may have through the want ad column—the cost is but a trifle.

Much in Brief Dream.

It is written of one of the most eminent of Englishmen who was dictating to his amanuensis chapters of an important work, and while so engaged was overcome by sleep. He dreamed of matters of great moment, of diplomatic conferences, exhausting many days and weeks. Becoming awake he chided his secretary for permitting him to sleep, and was astounded to be told by the scrivener that he had been dictating the last sentence that had been finished. Volumes have been written crammed with such experiences in infinite variety.

COMMON SENSE.

In the issue of the Nation for February 4th, one of the most conservative of the weekly magazines published touching on public questions, the subject of the German-American menace is taken up and handled in a most judicial manner. The article takes up the question of some of the belligerent German-Americans to organize for aggressive action "to break the power of England upon our public servants and our government." It does not question the right of the citizens of this country, whatever the land of their birth, to have a perfect right to organize for any benevolent purpose that they approve. That they can form societies, in order to radically alter our form of government or to induce it to change its foreign policy if they are actuated by patriotic American motives. But when this organizing is plainly in the interests of a foreign government and would inevitably result in dividing all Americans into two camps over an issue foreign to this country, those who undertake it are playing with extremely dangerous fire. It will tend to inject hatred and bitterness into our treatment of questions relating to our foreign affairs, at the worst possible time for such a display of partisanship. If ever there was an hour when patriotic citizens should refrain from acts likely to embroil this government at home or abroad, it is the present.

Our German-Americans who are citizens, and not merely sojourners among us, were supposed when they took out their naturalization papers to have abandoned their allegiance to Germany, and to have sworn fealty to our institutions. Now many of them are acting as if they were never Americans at all, but merely Germans who live here for convenience. They are looking at this whole question, not from the American point of view, but the German. When they demand that all shipments of arms to Europe be stopped, it is because they favor Germany, and are working in her interest. When they say they desire to elect congressmen who shall "compel the administration to enforce strict neutrality," they mean that, since the laws, by reason of British control of the sea, happen to favor the allies, they wish these laws changed. If these happened to favor Germany we should hear not a word from the German-Americans. They are judging thus upon what will help Germany; how it affects the United States they care not.

For the first time they have raised the question of the loyalty of foreign-born citizens, not their loyalty in time of war, but that deeper, firmer, and nobler allegiance to our institutions which we have a right to expect of true Americans. For it is impossible to uphold German autocracy and American representative government at the same time; they are too utterly dissimilar to make it possible. At the bottom there are the same fundamental differences that existed when the men of 1848 fled to this country for political asylum. But those who are trying to raise up a German national party here in the reflected heat of the great struggle abroad overlook all this, as they do the probability of their opening serious cleavage between themselves and the other American citizens which will last for years to come. With the utterance of the word "German" they have, strictly speaking, no more concern than the hundreds of thousands of Americans who are indebted to her for one cause or another. What they ought to be praying for is an outcome which will so remodel German institutions as to make them more nearly like our own. What they ought to be striving for is so to bear themselves that at the end of the war they will have won golden opinions on the side of the water for their forbearance, for their tolerance, and their Americanism.

Instead, the course they are threatening to pursue leads straight towards bitterness, sectionalism, and disorder in our political life. It is as if they sought to make themselves feared and disliked. As ex-President Taylor of Vassar college, has put it: "This is not patriotism; it is pure alienism." It goes without saying that some of the charges made by those who deem this new political organization necessary are unfounded and hysterical in the extreme. Thus, they solemnly accuse Mr. Wilson of contributing to the destruction of the German squadron under Admiral von Spee, because of the order prohibiting wireless service, while allowing English warships the full use of the cables. If this is true, what explanation is there of the German victory off Coronel? Did Mr. Wilson win it for them? Others of their contentions have been swept away by Mr. Bryan's letter to Senator Stone explaining just what this government has done. It is really painful to read this appeal for organization, with its confusion of thought, its inconsistencies, and its complete misconception of what constitutes neutrality and justice, of what is the duty of loyal Americans.

CREDIT IS DUE.

The thaw and rain of Friday night and Saturday gave evidence of the wisdom of the street commissioner's department in cleaning out the gutters and storm sewer connections throughout the city. The vast quantity of water that flowed down the hillsides was all cared for and went into the proper channels, not flooding the streets and sidewalks. Janesville, like ancient Rome, is built upon hills and when the spring freshets come our steep grades are all the more appreciated. One thing shown by the spring rains after the hard winter's freeze-up, was the necessity of removing the telephone and telegraph poles from the gutters of the streets. This was the hardest problem the street department had to contend with and despite their efforts, wherever these unsightly poles rear themselves, they acted as a temporary dam for the water and flooded the roadway. Is there not on record at the city hall the written promise of the Wisconsin Telephone company to remove its poles from the downtown districts if given permission some years ago to tear up the brick pavement on Main and Milwaukee streets to lay their underground conduits? If so, why has it not been enforced? Now is the time to compel them to live up to their promise. Meanwhile property-owners can aid materially by keeping the approaches to their own individual gutters clear of obstructions so as to give the waters a free flow.

THE WATERWORKS.

Janesville wants to own the plant of the Janesville Water company about as much as a small boy wants that green apple he has been longing for that is full of stomach ache and colic if he attempts to eat it. However, the people have voted for its purchase and it has been bought, and unless there is some unforeseen legal entanglement, water rates will not go down and the people will be disappointed when they pay higher taxes—but they have what they wanted.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

Edison has come to bat with a theory astounding. Yes, a theory confounding. Says the human needs no sleep. Says we, all of us, should keep right on working day and night. Pleading on with all our might. We who sleep is naught but lazy. And his think tank will grow hazy. Sleep is for the idle sinner. Not for one who'd be a winner in the everlasting strife. That we call our daily life. System does not need repose. Some day sleep will be no more; it will be a crime to snore. Day will come, it is close near. When no man will pound his ear. I would not grab the dinner pail And start to work at 6; I'd stick around the corner store, And argue politics. I'm sure could become a boss, In fact, a real nabob. If I could spend the time at it, And my wife had a job.

I would become an auto-rat, I'd just pass out advice. I'd solve all knotty problems Without money, with price. I'd pose as one great financier; With John D. I'd raise hob. I could do all of that and more, If my wife had a job.

I guess that I can never join the gang down at the store, Who have been running this world For twenty years or more. I've got to work and earn my way, With no one to look out for me, My wife ain't got no job.

The launching of the Winslow.

The Winslow, Uncle Sam's newest torpedo boat destroyer, was launched at Camden, N. J., last week. The vessel is named after Rear Admiral Winslow, who commanded the Kearsarge when she sank the Alabama in the memorable battle in June, 1864. The Winslow, which is 310 feet in length, is equipped with oil burning engines which are expected to drive the vessel at 25 knots per hour, was constructed at a cost of $800,000.

HOT TEA BREAKS A GOLD-TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieves congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

The Silent Hour.

One of the most valuable and effective methods of relaxation, recently tried for both children and mother, has been "the silent hour" immediately after luncheon. Each member of the family's privilege of reading, writing or sleeping is respected during this hour, in which children—after a few days' trial—readily co-operate.

When the Whistle Blew.

Little John saw a small tug towing a large ship, and heard the tug whistle loudly. "Oh, papa," he cried, "the big boat's got the little one by the tail and it's squealing."

HOLD MCKINNEY ON EVIDENCE TAKEN IN EXAMINATION TODAY

Maxfield Dismisses Charges Against Frank Sager and Holds McKinney for Trial on Feb. 23rd.

As the result of the testimony taken in the preliminary examination in the municipal court this morning before Judge H. L. Maxfield, Frank Sager was released from custody and charges of larceny against him were dismissed by the court, on the motion of District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie. Judge Maxfield ruled that there had been evidence sufficient submitted to the court to hold Roy McKinney for a jury trial, set for February 23rd, on the charge of larceny from the person of D. D. Brown, an Edgerton saloonkeeper, to the amount of $110. When the money was closed four persons had been called to the stand. The court committed McKinney to the county jail to await his trial in default of one thousand dollars bail bonds.

Brown Tells Story.

The first witness called by District Attorney Dunwiddie was Daniel Brown, the victim of the alleged holdup. Brown gave evidence that he had over $130 on his person when he came to Janesville and spent a part of this money freely in "treating the house" in various saloons. At the Bergdoll liquor shop on North Lincoln street, Brown said he left the place with William Seaman, whom he asked to go with him up the street, as he had been suspicious of McKinney, who had been with him in the saloons. According to Brown, after Seaman left him on North Bluff street, he did not remember more until he was at the city hall police station in the custody of Chief Chamberlain, where he discovered he had lost his wallet containing the money. Brown knew Sager but could not remember his accompanying him up Franklin and River streets, and gave his word that McKinney was of no relation to him. McKinney claimed by the defendant during the "sweating" by Chief Chamberlain.

Chief P. D. Champion, called next, testified as to the arrest of McKinney. He said McKinney refused to admit he took Brown's money for a number of hours until his wife pleaded with him to turn the money over to the police. Details of the trip over the river which McKinney and Sager took Brown was given by the police chief. Edgar Kingman, an acquaintance of McKinney, testified that the defendant, McKinney, had remarked to him in the Edgerton saloon, where Brown was held, that he (McKinney) was going to "touch Brown before he got out of town." The witness said he did not pay any attention to the remark at the time, not knowing whether it meant by "touch" to rob or to borrow.

McKinney Claims Relationship.—William Seaman, who resides on Washington street, told of taking Brown out to the Edgerton saloon two blocks up the street when McKinney took him in charge explaining the intoxicated man was a relative of his and that he would take him to the Chicago Hotel. Seaman proved that he came out of the saloon some few minutes later and then went to North River street and aided McKinney in taking Brown up to the coal yard, where the three met again. At this point Seaman came up and questioned McKinney, what they would do with Brown, and received a reply from the youth "that he had his money and would cure for him." Seaman was placed on the stand by Attorney Stanley Tallman and the accused declared McKinney took the wallet out of Brown's pocket while the three were sitting on the curb on North River street. McKinney, stated the witness, gave his explanation, that he would care for the purse until the next day.

Attorney Stanley Tallman announced his intention of carrying the trial of McKinney before the circuit court on a change of venue, but the information will have to be filed by the state before the defense is heard. It is understood the defense of McKinney will be that there was no criminal intent of the taking of the purse from Brown in his intoxicated condition. The witness given by Brown that he suffered a bruise on his shoulder which faded him, but none of the other witnesses related of this fact. The right of the police to make arrests without warrants may be questioned by the defense in the trial. There were over a hundred spectators present during the hearing, the room being crowded.

EDGERTON ARRANGES TO HONOR WHITTET WITH BIG BANQUET

Janesville Friends of Speaker of Assembly Will Participate in Celebration on February 25.

Arrangements are under way at Edgerton for a monster banquet to be given on Thursday evening, February 25th, at the high school gymnasium in honor of Speaker Lawrence C. Whittet of the Wisconsin assembly. Two hundred plates will be laid and the guests will include Governor Emanuel Phillips and his staff.

J. M. Conway of the committee in charge of the affair, who was in Janesville today, stated that Janesville friends of Mr. Whittet were welcome to join in the festivities provided they sent notice to the committee in ample time so that reservations could be made. George W. Blanchard and A. J. Jensen are the other members of the committee. It is probable that there will be a delegation of fifteen or twenty Janesville men at the banquet.

One hundred and fifty Edgerton business men and citizens have already signed up to attend, and the affair promises to be one of the biggest demonstrations of the kind ever held in Edgerton. A fine program of music and addresses will be enjoyed following the banquet which will be served by the ladies of the Edgerton Federation of Women's clubs.

"The celebration will be non-political in character," said Mr. Conway today. "Mr. Whittet was raised in Edgerton and he has warm friends in all political parties. We take great pride in the honor and distinction which he has won at Madison and will take this way of showing it."

Canada's Capital.

The old seat of government in French Canada was the city of Quebec. Under British rule the capital was Montreal, but as a result of a riot in 1849 the government was removed and alternated between Toronto and Quebec until 1858, in which year Queen Victoria selected Ottawa as the capital of Canada. Ottawa was founded under the name of Bytown in 1829 and was incorporated in 1854 when the name was changed.

were about to cast off. "Looky here, de Cuba licked de G'ints 5 to 1 today. He pointed to figures in a newspaper which he had obtained. So then it might have been excitement of rage and not of joy which had animated Cal Davidson when he went aboard.

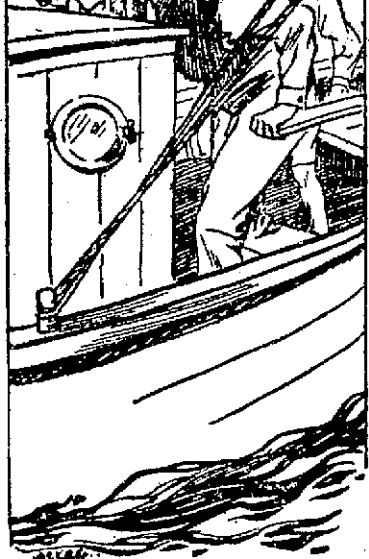

"Never mind, then," said I, "for that gives us a day's start."

"How do you mean?" demanded Jean.

"It means that yonder varlet will not leave Natchez tomorrow until late evening, after the wires are in from the northern ball games," I replied. "Of course he'll stop there next."

I felt now that the Lord had, by implanting this insane lust of petty baseball news in his soul, delivered my enemy into my hand.

Now, I wist not how or at what disguised speed the Belle Helene swept on down that mighty river through the rich southern lands, nor do I scarce half remember the painstaking, persistent run we made with the grimy Sea Rover in pursuit, hour after hour, night or day. We had no licensed pilot or licensed engineer, we bore no lights

"At last! There she lies, my hearties!" as prescribed by law and needed no channels as prescribed by government engineers. Pirates, indeed, we might have been as we plowed on down in the wake of our quarry, along the ancient highway famous in fast packet days. We cared nothing for law, order, custom, conventions, precedents—the very things which had enslaved me all my life I now cast aside.

We made the fine city of Natchez in the evening of the sweetest day, on which, as I thought, the sun had ever set. I caught sight of the long, low, graceful hull of the Belle Helene! "Avast! Jean Lafitte," I cried. "Shorten all sail and bear across west by west."

"Aye, aye, sir!" came the response from my bold crew.

"Why don't we run in and board her?" demanded L'Olonnois. However, seeing that I had laid hold of the steering line where I sat and was heading the Sea Rover across the Louisiana side, away from the city's water front, he subsided.

"We'll cast anchor yonder where the holding ground is good," I explained. "Tonight we'll send off the longboat with a boarding party. And," I added, "it shall go hard, but we'll hold you varlet to his accounting!"

CHAPTER VII.

In Which We Board the Enemy.

THE yacht lay—with an audacity of carelessness which I did not like to note—hardly inside the edge of the regular shipping channel, but swung securely and gracefully at her cable, held by an anchor which I had devised myself, heavy enough for twice her tonnage. A man leaned against the rail idly smoking, but this I made out to be the engineer, Williams, come up to get the evening air. Billy, the deck hand; John, my Chinese cook, and Peterson, the boat master, were at the time out of sight, as well as Cal Davidson, who had her under charter.

We lay thus, separated by some distance of the river's flood, each craft at anchor, only one observed by the other. But to my impatient gaze matters seemed strangely slow on board the Belle Helene. I was relieved when at last the rather portly but well groomed figure of my friend Davidson appeared on deck. He made his way aft along the rail, and I could see him dead over and cast down the companionway of the after staircase. Then, an instant later, he was joined on the afterdeck by two ladies. The sight of one of these caused my heart to bound.

They stood for a moment, no more than dimly outlined, but I could see them well enough. The older lady, with the scar about her head, was Aunt Lucinda. The slighter figure in white and wearing no head covering was she—Helena Emory. It was Helena! It was Helena!

She turned toward Davidson. I could hear across the water the sound of laughter. A sudden feeling of anger came into my soul.

The three figures passed forward, along the deck slowly and disappeared down the front companion stair which led to the cozy dining room. I could see them all sitting there, about my own table, using the very silver and linen which I had made for the Belle Helene, attended by John, my Chinese cook and factotum, whom I had especially imported, selected from among a thousand other Chinese by myself at Hankow. I knew that Davidson would have champagne and a dozen other wines in abundance, everything the market offered. A pleasant party, this of three, which was seating itself at my table over yonder, while I, in a grimy, dingy little tub, lay looking at them helpless in the gloom!

I scarce know how the time passed until I saw them, in the illumination of the deck lights, at length come on deck again. They stood looking out over the river or toward the lights of Natchez—Under-the-Hill, and at length idly walked aft once more. The two ladies seated themselves on deck chairs under the awning of the rear deck. I could not see them now, but heard the tinkle and throb of a guitar come across the water, touched lightly with long pauses, as under some suspended melody not yet offered in fullness. Now and again I could hear a word or so, the rather deep voice of Aunt Lucinda, the bass tones of Davidson, but strain my ears as I might I could not bear the sound of that other voice, low and sweet, an excellent thing in woman.

At length the little party seemed to be breaking up. I saw Davidson, half in shadow, outlined by the deck lights as he rose and passed forward. Then I heard the falls run and a soft splash as the dinghy was launched overside. Cal Davidson was going ashore. He could no longer resist his anxiety over the baseball score!

"Clear away the longboat for the boarding party!" I now whispered hoarsely. I spoke to companions now in full character. Belted and armed, Lafitte and L'Olonnois rose, ready for any bold enterprise, each with red kerchief pulled about his brow. And now to my interest I observed that each had resumed the black mask which he had worn earlier in our long voyage, sign of the desperate character of each venture.

"Whither away, Black Bart?" demanded L'Olonnois fiercely. "Lead, and we follow!"

"You had better put on a mask, Black Bart," added Jean Lafitte, and handed me a spare one of his own manufacture. I hesitated; but, then, seeing that part of my success lay in our all remaining somewhat practical of character, I hastily slipped it above my eyes and pulled down my hat brim. "She will not know me now," said I to myself.

Partial, without invitation, climbed into the skiff with us. "Cast off!" I ordered. "Oars!" And my young men, whom by this time I had trained in many ways nautical, obeyed in good seaman fashion. A moment later we lay almost under the rail of the Belle Helene. No one hailed us. We seemed taken only for some passing skiff. "Listen!" I whispered. "There is risk in what we are going to do."

I looked at my blue eyed pirate, L'Olonnois, who sat closer to me. On his face was simple and complete happiness. At last his adventure had come to him, and he was meeting it like a man.

"What is it, Black Bart?" I heard Jean Lafitte whisper hoarsely. "We are to board and take yonder ship," I replied softly. "If we are to succeed you must do precisely as I tell you. Leave the main risk to me—that of the law. I'll take possession on the ground that she is my boat, that her charter money is not paid and that yonder varlet is making away with her out of the country. She holds much treasure, let me assure you of that, my men—the greatest treasure that ever came down this river."

"Now, listen. You, Lafitte, as soon as we get aboard, are to run and close the hatch of the engine room. That will pin Williams, the engineer, below, where he can make no resistance. As soon as that is done run to those doors forward which lead down to the dining room companionway and shut those doors and latch them. That will take care of John, the cook. The deck hand is away with the varlet. That leaves only the shipmaster and the women captives.

"While you are busy in this way, Lafitte, I will hunt for Peterson, the master, who very likely is sitting quiet on the forward deck somewhere. The main danger lies with him. While I attend to him, you, L'Olonnois, run aft. You will find there two ladies, one very old and ugly, the other very young and very beautiful. See that they do not escape and hold them there until I come aft to meet you."

"All this must go through as we have planned. Once the maiden is in our power and the ship our own we will head downstream for the open sea."

Swiftly, but silently, we swept in under the lee of the Belle Helene. The landing ladder had not been drawn up after Davidson's departure, so that the boarding party had easy work ahead.

I sprang upon the deck, my footfalls deadened by the rubber matting which lay along all the decks. I turned. Above the rail behind me rose the face of Lafitte, masked. The long blade of a Malay creese was in his teeth. In one hand he held a pistol, the other as he climbed. He scraped out of his belt as he came aboard I know not how many pistols, which fell into the water, but still, God wot, had abundant remaining. Nor did L'Olonnois, close behind him, his samurai sword between his teeth, present a spectacle less awesome. I breathed a sudden prayer that these might meet with no resistance, else I could only fear the direct consequences.

I made a quick motion with my hand even as I sprang forward in search of Peterson. The dull thud of the engine room hatch an instant later assured me that Lafitte had performed the most important part of the work assigned to him. Forsooth, ere long he had done all his work as laid out for him. It chanced that as he sprang to the doors of the forward saloon he met John, the Chinaman. Reaching for him with one hand, he closed the doors with the other with such promptness and precision that the cue of John was caught in the door, and he was imprisoned below, where he howled in much grief and perturbation, unable to escape without the sacrifice of his cat.

Dinner Stories

A German cobbler and his wife had two dogs, a St. Bernard, six months old, and a fox terrier, three years old.

A friend, calling one day, said to the cobbler: "Those are two fine dogs you have."

"Yes," replied the cobbler, "and a funny part of it is that the biggest dog is de littlest one."

"How is it, John, you are so persistent in your absence from church?"

"Well," replied John, "it's just like this—the sermons are over long for me."

"John! John!" wrathfully cried the minister, "you'll see and you'll go to a place where you'll hear no sermons, long or short."

"Ah, well, maybe that will be," replied the philosopher John. "But I'm sure it'll be for want of meaners."

A green brakeman on the Colorado Road, making his first trip up the Pass. They were going up a very steep grade, and with unusual difficulty the engineer succeeded in reaching the top. At the station, looking out of his cab, the engineer saw the new brakeman and said with a sigh of relief: "I tell you what, my lad, we had a job to get up there, didn't we?"

"We certainly did," said the brakeman, "and if I hadn't put on the brakes we'd have slipped back."

W. J. BELLAIR, Clarkburg, Ky., writes: "My boy, 12 years old, had bronchial trouble ever since he was a baby. We feared he would go into consumption. I heard of a similar case where FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR Compound effected a cure, and bought a bottle. My son commenced to improve after the first few doses, and the first bottle stopped his stubborn cough. FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR has given better satisfaction than any medicine I ever used. I think this wonderful medicine has saved the boy's life."

HOW SHE ENDED TEN YEARS OF SKIN-TORTURE

Oct. 28, 1914.—"I had eczema on my face for ten years. Little red pimples formed in a small spot on my chin and then spread all over my face. They itched and burned me awfully. It was certainly embarrassing to me, and I would not go amongst people. I tried almost every remedy and treatment that could be used for this trouble, but nothing did me any good. I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago and the trouble has never returned."—(Signed) Mrs. C. C. Roberts, Weatherford, Okla.

The Resinol treatment speedily heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and clears away disfiguring pimples and blackheads, even when other treatments prove worse than useless. Doctors have prescribed Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap for eighteen years, and all druggists sell them.

Simple Living Economy

Isn't scrimping one's food, or subsisting on an unpalatable diet, but it's cutting out indigestibles, surplus quantities, and planning meals to balance up essential food values.

The ordinary diet is generally deficient in some of these values, such as the mineral elements, the lack of which is often responsible for anemia, listlessness, nervous breakdown, and general inefficiency.

A daily ration of

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

has been a boon to thousands. Made of prime, hard wheat and malted barley, it contains all the nutriment—including the vital mineral elements, phosphate of potash, etc., which Nature has bountifully stored in these rich food grains.

Grape-Nuts is long-baked, very easy to digest, and comes ready to eat from the package. A crisp, appetizing food that combines good, simple living and true economy.

WATCH, STAND FAST QUIT YOU LIKE MEN

REV. HAZEN URGES CONGREGATION IN SERMON "FACING THE PRESENT HOUR," TO FIGHT GOOD FIGHT.

WAR IN COMPARISON

England's War Lord's Advice to Soldiers Compared to That With Apostle Paul's to Us.

"The British and other nations," said the Rev. Joseph Chalmers Hazen, M. A., pastor of the First Baptist church, in sermon "Facing the Present Hour," yesterday morning, are facing critical times in their country's history. Further, each is looking to one man as a military leader; one who can take them over the present stress and, following, make each particular country assume afterwards the same position or even more than it did before this war started.

"Lord Kitchener is the man to whom all England is looking. He has endeavored to raise an army of 1,500,000 men and throw them into the battle line on the western battle front this spring.

"When Kitchener's first army sailed for France he gave them his kind advice in pamphlet or letter form. This little letter was given to every soldier. What was it?

"He urged every man who had taken up the colors to keep every moral clean; morals of drink, body and any other manner of violation. And the close obedience of these little rules of the great Lord Kitchener is what is making the British soldier the fighting and valiant character he is today and European's scared and fleeing.

"Similar to this, but in early ages, the Apostle Paul wrote to his outposts and stations. Paul wrote to the Corinthians, 'Watch ye, stand fast in the faith and quit you like men.'

"Kitchener knows that the future of England depends upon the battles that are to be fought. Paul realized the fight of the king and urged the Corinthians to stand fast.

"Each knew something of the strength and the weakness of the enemy, and speaking for the master Lord Kitchener says that it is the watching of the little things that makes the soldiers of England the heroes of every trench today on the western front.

"With us, too, it must be the close observation of the smaller things of life. We need to watch our own life and battle. Much depends on whether we are fit, capable and strong to stand the temptations and storms as we are put in the trenches. We should watch our personal affairs and appear before our God with a clean conscience. We should be offered to God to become a true and loyal soldier. Watch everything for He is ever upon us.

"The world was startled on Sunday night by the announcement that the Germans were marching on to Paris; that they were but a few miles from this beautiful and wealthy metropolis. Then they fell back in precipitous retreat. It was the German movement and cut them off in the rear.

"Their enemy was the menacing force in the rear. We too must watch for this that is ever present. We must watch too and not make the mistake and attack our own as the enemy. Too many times we do this in a blindness which keeps us from seeing our friends. We fall back before our own attack.

"But the most important thing is to watch the leader, the chief or master. Paul says, 'Watch, stand fast,' and it is the man that keeps his eyes on his chief that is victor in battle.

"The first requisite of Paul is that you keep the faith of the Apostles, the Church of Jesus Christ and of your good old father and mother. This is the first requisite.

"Corinth is said to have resembled a little Paris. Every allurements, culture, wealth, art, dress and society were embodied in this city. It had the influence of embalming and making fragrant summer evening and bewitching of the soul in its presence. It is the same in our own lives today. But we have another side and so did Corinth. It is our cowardice and in this trait we fall many times.

"The Jews told the Corinthians that the Christians were the enemies of Corinth and urged persecution. Every day they seemed against the Christians to acquit himself of the charges in the services of his Master. He was weakened everywhere, the back and front and either side.

"Paul at first was a soldier. He fought the Christians but it was the God turned face of Stephen, perhaps the first great martyr, that converted him to the cause of Christianity. Stephen was being stoned to death by the soldiers because of his faith. Paul uttered a prayer of forgiveness as the soul of the scarred and beaten man ascended to his Heavenly Father.

CHALONS A CITY OF HISTORIC HONORS

Chalons, rich in history, brave in defense, suffering under the clash of armies at its door, is described in a statement just prepared by the National Geographic society, which says:

Just back of where the battle of Marston was fought, the battle of Chalons, sweeps in a wide curve over the world-famed grape lands of the Champagne lies Chalons-sur-Marne, one of the principal military training camps in France. It is a brave town; and no other community in Europe appears through the pages of 1,000 years of Christian history with more honor or with fewer memories for regret. A natural mobilization point for the defense of northern France, Chalons has been the objective of many invasions from the east and north, and is again the aim of mighty invading forces.

"Chalons is small, of but little commercial importance, old-fashioned, and decidedly bourgeois and commonplace. It is remembered by Americans who have tarried here, and its name is a familiar one to the German Rhine country and Paris, only as a quaint, somewhat shabby place. Nevertheless, it is able to boast itself one of the proudest cities in the world, and its history in the present war may knock.

"Its history reaches back to Roman occupation. Caesar found on this site the chief town of the Gauls. On the plain nearby, Attila, the Scourge of God, with his wild hordes, whom all Europe had come to fear, was defeated in 451, in what, according to the authorities, was the last battle of the world. It was called 'The Battle of Chalons' by the ancient historians, who reported that some 800,000 dead were left upon the field. It was there so the battle which wrecked Attila's dream of world dominion was the bloodiest ever fought in Europe, and, probably, in the world. So fierce was the fighting that the victors were weary of supremacy—according to tradition—that the myriad, embittered ghosts of the slain renewed the conflict every night for years after the battle.

"The leadership of its bishops, courageous Chalons—as bourgeois as now—maintained their high honor which remains to this day. The French armies had been beaten again and again, with the British in possession of a great part of the homeland, and the discipline of the struggle of the national sentiment in France, the citizens of Chalons met the high standards of the heroic soldiers of England and the victorious English from their walls—in 1430 and 1434.

"The Camp of Chalons, the great French training center for troops, is still to be seen. It is a city in this city in 1870. It lies 16 miles from the town on the railway line to Reims. It occupies an arena of about 30,000 acres.

"Chalons, capital of the Department of Marne, lies 107 miles east between Paris and Frankfurt-am-Main. It is 25 miles south of the river Marne and is situated on the river and the renowned French wine country. To the visitor from the New World, the houses of Chalons are picturesque, many of them are unimpaired, and of wood and plaster, and few of them possess any degree of elegance. There is little of outward, apparent interest in Chalons, and visit in the morning, and the visitor must prepare by leaving behind his guide books and by reading up French history.

"The National Geographic society thus describes the battle of Chalons, one of the most hotly contested pieces of battle ground in all the theaters of the present war:

"The Argonne Forest is a rugged knot of low, rocky, rocky and deeply cleft. This forest lies across the path of the Lorraine passes into France. It stretches from the southeast to the northwest for 30 miles, and is generally parallel to the French-German boundary, though well within French territory, and varies in width from one to eight miles. It lies between the Marne and the Aisne, on the east, and the river Meuse, on the west. The railway from Metz to Chalons and Paris runs through one of its sharp-hewn passes. This narrow rock-bound tangled forest belt is rich in military history. Its exceedingly difficult paths have several times stopped the foreign invader and the Frenchman, and it has been called the French Thermopylae. While no such tragic 'last stand' has yet been made within its area as that which consecrated the Argonne passes of the Argonne Forest, it has been the theater of several famous military operations, among them the battle of Valmy.

"In the battle of the Marne, the French, with 96,000 raw, undisciplined, unconfident conscripts opposed on September 20, 1912, in the wonderfully fortified passes of the Argonne, 160,000 Austro-German soldiers and Prussians, who had been pursuing an easy course into France, and victory remained with the French, a victory followed by the proclamation of the Republic.

"Argonne is well-wooded and has an elevation ranging between 600 and 900 feet. The ground within the forest is unfruitful, rich alone in stone, plagues of locusts, beetles, and all manner of legend and fable.

"Blooded cattle sold at fancy prices at the auction held at the farm of Mrs. B. A. Edwards, near Beloit, in the early part of last week. Under the gavel of Auctioneer Fred Taves pure blooded Brown Swiss cows sold at $222.50 and one bull calf, three weeks old, brought the fancy price of $650. There was an excellent crowd, and the guidance of Mr. Taves bidding was spirited.

"I'M GUILTY," SAYS NEGRO AS HE GOES TO GALLOWS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 15.—Westley Robinson, a negro, was hanged today for the murder of his wife and stepdaughter, by choking. YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

IF CROSS, FEVERISH OR BILIOUS GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative, should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach-achy, breath bad, or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit Fig syrups. Ask druggists for a good brand. This is "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

BILL TO PROHIBIT TOBACCO TO MINORS

Superior Assemblyman Would License Cigarette Dealers and Deny Sales to Youths.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—A modification of the anti-trust cigarette law, repealing many of the present features, but strengthening the prohibitive features as applied to minors, will be proposed in the assembly tonight in the form of a bill by Assemblyman D. L. Doble of Superior. The measure provides for the licensing of cigarette dealers and the revocation of their licenses for violation of the provisions of the law.

"The present cigarette law is a farce," everybody knows it, and it is time that a law was enacted on this subject that will be workable and accomplish a real purpose, said Assemblyman Doble today.

More Stringent Provisions. The Doble bill provides that any person "who shall sell, give, or deliver to a minor a cigar, cigarette or other tobacco in any form shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100 or less than $25, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than 60 days or by both fine and imprisonment." All of that provision of the present law regarding a written request from the parent or guardian to obtain tobacco is dropped. In place of a new provision is added, making the law more stringent than the present one as applied to minors alone. This provision says that every minor who shall smoke or use cigars, cigarettes or tobacco in any form shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 or 30 days in jail.

To Revoke a License. To secure a license of a person to sell the bill provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, clerk, employee or agent, upon any pretense, or by any device, to manufacture, sell or exchange, barter, dispose or give away, or keep for sale cigarettes, cigarette papers or wrappers without first obtaining a license. These licenses for the disposal of any cigarettes or cigarette papers may be granted by the common council of any city, the village board, or the town board wherein such right is sought to be exercised. Every such license shall continue for a period of two years from its date unless sooner revoked and the fee for such licenses shall be $25. Under the terms of the bill, no license may be issued to a person in case of a change of ownership of any licensed location. Persons who shall violate these provisions are subject to a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment in the county jail not more than 60 days, or both, and the person whose license shall be revoked and no new license can be issued to the person for a period of five years.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE IS LIMITED TO CASE IN LA FAYETTE COUNTY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—As far as known, only one case of foot and mouth disease has been reported in Wisconsin, and that was communicated from Illinois sources as a result of lax and dilatory official action in that state, according to Wisconsin officials. This case occurred in a community near Warrens, Ill., but on the Wisconsin side of the line, on the farm of Clyde Akin, in La Fayette county. The case was reported to the health officer, and the case was under observation. Local officials are incensed over what they term the slow attitude of Illinois officials in dealing with this problem, and blame the recently found case to this cause.

NO TITLE MATCHES STAGED THIS WEEK; WELSH GOING BACK?

Showing of Boss of Lightweight Division in Recent Bout Shows That He Can Be Defeated. (By Strikes)

The week's boxing calendar does not contain any matches that will stir the fight world about local interest where the various bouts are staged. There is a temporary lull in the fighting affairs of the near future because of the number of championship matches which are pending and being considered.

Tonight Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee's crack boxer, will have his first test at a lightweight against "Goats" Doig, the glove wielder whom northern Illinois fans think a world buster. Doig was billed to meet Doig, but the former "wildcat" refuses to fight at popular prices and for some hook or crook, mostly crook, Mitchell has been in training for the bout. Doig has been whipped twice by Mike Snyder of Chicago and appears to be nothing but a "good" local fighter. Mitchell has cleverness to hold the Spring Valley man even for ten rounds but his lack of a wallop is going to cause him trouble among the lightweights. Ritchie is a promoter's pet on a popular price show with Chicago fighters meeting in ten round bouts, to draw the populace from the Windy City. Joe Weiling and Bobby Sanborn meet in one bout, with "Kew" Ertel, the St. Paul candidate for the bantam honors, battles Young Izzo for the second time in the other. Ertel is having no trouble in getting matches in Milwaukee rings, and so far has trounced every opponent could be found for him. The St. Paul fighter is but eighteen years old, and there is danger of his working too much, as he has fought a host of battles in the past few months. Friday he meets Gene Gannon of Milwaukee. Ertel is trying to chase former Champion Johnny Coulton into a match, for the Logan Square fighter is holding off under the idea of making it in condition to make a good fight of it.

For the first week in a month Champion Freddie Welsh has not been capitalizing that "no-decision" title of his, and banking some more perfect Yankee money after being "shaded" by an American lightweight. The Englishman has failed to impress the American fans that he is worthy of holding the title. Welsh's indication of championship through Willie Ritchie's poor fighting rather than his own superior "English style" boxing, Jimmy Duffy gave Welsh a lacing at Buffalo, Charley White did it at Milwaukee and Young Joe Shugrue, according to New York papers, chalked up another defeat for him in New York recently, making it two straight.

But there is one thing that Welsh must be given credit for. Since acquiring the crown, he has risked it fighting whenever a bout was offered him. He has not dictated any unreasonable terms or has he chosen his opponents. Just as long as there is a good purse, Welsh has gone in the ring and given Americans a chance at him over the no-decision route. Freddie being a master of defensive fighting has yet to receive a knockdown and there is no indication that any fighter in his division has ability enough to clout the Englishman enough to make him take the count in a twenty round battle, let alone a short one. Critics in describing the second fight between Shugrue and Welsh declare that the Jersey "skeeter" punched Welsh at will, but his blows were merely "cuffs" which caused Welsh to pursue clinching tactics. Ritchie will be given his chance to regain his lost prestige in New York in March in a ten round go with Welsh, and if the ex-champ is in condition he should pile up another popular defeat against his successor. If Welsh does not stick to his present style of strictly defensive mulling and tries to mix with Ritchie, he is sure to get into trouble. Charley White is signed to meet the lightweight boss of Milwaukee, but there is a bare hope that a fair one—that the Chicago stalling artist will do a little fighting and use that left hook more to an advantage than he did the last time the pair met.

A twenty round decision bout at New Orleans between Welsh and one of the leaders is being considered and Welsh has announced his willingness providing the stakes are shown. With Shugrue, Ritchie, White, Duffy, Dundee or even Johnny Griffiths against him, this match would probably give birth to a new title holder.

The bouts scheduled for the week are as follows:

Monday, Feb. 15.
Ritchie Mitchell vs. Goats Doig, 10 rounds, at Milwaukee.
Roger O'Malley vs. Patsy Brannigan, 10 rounds, at Johnston, Pa.
Charley Burns vs. Joe Bayley, 20 rounds at Van Couver, B. C.
Joe Weiling vs. Bobby Scanlon, 10 rounds, at Kenosha.
Joe Sherman vs. Tommy Gary, 10 rounds, at Kenosha.
Johnny Ertel vs. Young Izzo, 10 rounds, at Kenosha.
George Knockout Brown vs. Sailor Czarnianski, 10 rounds, at Cincinnati, Ohio.
Jimmy Anderson vs. Fred Welsh, 10 rounds, at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Tuesday, Feb. 16.
Charley Weibert vs. Tom McCarthy, 10 rounds, at Brooklyn, N. Y.
Billy Giove vs. Billy Grupp, 10 rounds, at New York.
Cal Delancy vs. Alvie Miller, 10 rounds, at Lorain, Ohio.

MORRIS MILLER

Warned by what happened to the game in California, fight promoters at New Orleans are reported to be maneuvering cautiously in billing future engagements. Some opposition to the fight game is reported to be in evidence in Louisiana, but by discountenancing "rough stuff" the southern fight managers hope to keep contests going along smoothly without encountering legal obstacles. Already they are talking about staging a bout for the lightweight championship of the world in the river city. Promoters would like to schedule such a match and also a mill between two bantams, preferably Kid Williams and Frankie Burns. No one would risk killing the game by bringing in a couple of heavies for a bout.

Bill Donovan proposes to send his battery candidates, with Scout Joe Kelley and Coach Duke Farrell in charge, to the Arkansas health resort for a stay of two weeks. A course of training has been prescribed for both Farrell and Kelley. Farrell will take charge of the young pitchers, while Kelley, who in his day was one of the greatest outfielders the game ever produced, will try to teach the youngsters the tricks of the trade. Kelley says he hopes to make Doc Cook a competent fielder before the season opens, which, if accomplished, would make him a player of great value, for he is a natural hitter.

Though there apparently is no reason for believing that peace in baseball is possible at this time, a Philadelphia writer says the present war is the best thing that has happened to the game. He predicts that if Judge Landis' decision is against the Feds the independents will make no effort to carry the case to a higher court. The reason for this is the fact that the Chicago has not weakened in his desire to buy an interest in organized baseball, and a way has been opened to him to enter, it is said. Another Federal league magnate who is said to be one of the war is Phil Ball of St. Louis, and he is said to be willing to buy the St. Louis Cardinals. This club is for sale, and a deal was almost closed for it recently, but the figures were too high and the matter was dropped. Ball and Weegham would buy into baseball if the Wards of Brooklyn and Gwinner of Pittsburgh are taken care of the story goes, but it is hard to see why organized baseball, if the decision favors it, should make any effort to have the backers of the Federal league taken care of by organized baseball.

At least one woman in New York will be glad when the baseball season opens, for Supreme Court Justice Brady of that town signed an order that the other side of the coin of the Chicago Cubs, must pay his wife $20 a week when the season is over and $40 when he is pastime at third for the Cubs. He must also pay $200 a month when the season is over. The great Helen is suing the great Helen for separation, charging the player with non-support of herself and infant child Helen. She asked $500 counsel fee and $200 a month alimony.

The veteran pitchers of the Highlanders—Fisher, Cole, Keating, Caldwell, Warhop, Brown—accompanied by "Big Ed" Sweeney and Leslie Numanaker, the two catchers, will leave for Hot Springs, Ark. on February 15 to get the kinks out of their arms. The party will be in charge of Joe Kelly, the former manager of the Toronto team, who is in the capacity of scout for the Highlanders. The pitchers and the two catchers will join the rest of the team at Savannah on March 10. Manager Harry Sparrow also announced that the Highlanders would play an exhibition game with the Cubs at Savannah on April 1.

JOE MANDOT FIGHTS DRAW WITH DUNDEE IN NEW ORLEANS SUNDAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
New Orleans, Feb. 15.—At the end of the fastest twenty round glove battle ever staged here, Joe Mandot gave a draw decision in the New Orleans bantam boy, and Johnny Dundee, New York lightweight. The bout was staged before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a prize fight in this state, Sunday afternoon.

For the first half of the contest, Dundee, by his aeroplane punch and rushing tactics, made a runaway match of it. His speed and aggressiveness piled up a wide margin, for he had Mandot in a bad way, during several rounds. In the eleventh round adopted a straight left and uppercut to check Dundee as he came in on the rushes. He made such a good showing that the honors were divided. The winner of this bout was promised a 20 round match with Champion Welsh.

New York, Feb. 15.—Now that Judge Landis' justly celebrated decision is out of the way the sporting spotlight is beginning to shift its bleary eye to the southward. Its only matter of days now until old friend Chas. Horse will start paying his annual call to the training camps, and the creaks and groans of stiffened muscles will reverberate through the north.

Practically all the big leagues clubs will carry their usual quota of embryo stars to the camps. The American league refused to condone the twenty-one player limit which the National magnates advocated and that means the usual number will go and the usual number turned back.

Manager McGraw of the Giants will carry fully fifty recruits to Marlin this season. The Giants infield is thought to be practically intact now that Honus Lobert has plugged his hole at third, but McGraw thinks the outfield and pitching departments could stand a little bolstering and to that end is paying the expenses of more young pitchers and outfielders than in former years.

George Stallings' state, Georgia, is being much favored by baseball men this year as a place to work out the kinks, particularly by the Braves of the third circuit squads will train there as will the Champion Braves and the Yankees. Texas and Florida draw their usual number.

MILWAUKEE BOWLERS TAKE TOURNAMENT

Mueller Drug Five Expected to Win Team Title at State Bowling Tournament at Sheboygan.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Sheboygan, Feb. 15.—The thirteenth annual tournament of the Wisconsin Bowling Association closed last night. The Mueller's Druggists, of Milwaukee, won the big purse with a score of 2,841. Today the single and double events will be completed. The journey leaders were as follows:

"What is your opinion of our foreign relations?" asked the patriotic citizen. "They don't do you any good," replied the local politician. "What you want is a lot of relations right here in your own country that'll vote the way you tell 'em to."

John Evers is recovering, but slowly, from his recent illness, and George Stallings is much worried. The slender little marvel seems to be almost all in, by on strength, and gaining so tardily that it may be mid-summer before he can play his game. The absence of one man from a line-up will not often change baseball history for a season, but Evers is so large a factor of the Braves that his disability may have just that effect on the 1915 campaign.

CHICAGO CHAMPIONS WERE EASY VICTIMS FOR THE CARDINALS

Meteors Outclassed by Lakota Cardinals in Game Saturday Night. Jansville Team Winning 48 to 18.

The Lakota Cardinals gave the Chicago Meteors, alleged champions of the Windy City, an instructing and an enlightening lesson in the gentle game of basketball at the Auditorium Saturday night to the tune of 48 to 18. If the Meteors, as represented here, is the best five in Chicago, with a reputation of being on a par with the Maroons, Coach Stange had better give the Lakotas the "once over" before picking his stars for 1916.

From the first tip-off until time was called, the Meteors were outclassed in every department of the sport and at all times at the mercy of the Lakotas' teamwork and accurate basket-shooting. The Jansville five played in excellent form Saturday night, having rare passing ability, stellar dribbling and could garner the points at will, much to the misery of the Chicago bunch. The Meteors tried hard enough, but did not know how to try. Their most fatal weakness was in not being able to drop the ball in the basket on easy shots when they were given the chance. They were good fighters and fairly fast, but when it came to turning the glit edges of the game and united teamwork, there was "nobody home."

On the other hand, the Lakotas played a brand of ball that should spell defeat for the championship Troy, New York team in its coming game Saturday. Atwood is entitled to claims as being the best forward in the state, without exception, for he has yet to meet a guard who could not score. "Lanky" Ed scored eight over Love and could have dropped in as many more if there had been a demand. There was not a player on the floor who showed as good judgment in the game as Edler, who, despite his rather deductory playing, was on the job, covering the right man at the right moment and blocking shots and passes that stonped the scoring. Hemming, playing in the last half, having been taken out after five minutes of play in the first half to allow Langdon to play, shot.

Strong in the offensive play, "Submarine" Dalton scored three times and gave Payne, the Meteor star man, a hard run as well as a rough one. Langdon played during the first half and showed his old-time "pep" and sticking ability when it came to guarding and dribbling the ball.

Shortness, forward, playing again, Edler, the Chicago man did not like the way Edler used the famed wrestler and whenever the Windy City "Goth" would try the hammer-look and strangle hold on the Jansville player—and got spulled—Hemming could only see a foul against Edler. There was no need of much argument, for Atwood was putting the Lakotas in a safe land, aided by Ryan and Dalton, who collected the only field basket for the visitors during the half, the rest of the points being made by Shortness on fouls.

The playing was fast in spots and the Meteors' defense was weak on baskets spoiled a close score.

In the second half Langdon quit playing and went in as referee, Hemming replacing Edler at center, the "Goth" being put to guard. The Cardinals having the game clinched, "Lanky" Edler was able to dribble the ball through the defense of the visitors and scored three goals, evening the count with his man.

Summary.
Lakota Cardinals—Atwood, r. f. Dalton, l. f. Hemming and Edler, c. Langdon and Edler, r. e. Ryan, g. Chicago Meteors—Shortness, r. f. Nicolle, l. f. Churchill, c. Love, r. e. Payne, l. g.

Fouls called on Edler, 3; Ryan, 1; Dalton, 1; Payne, 5.

Rules—Intercollegiate.
Time of halves—20 minutes.
Timers—Slawson and Campbell.
Attendance—480.

Side Line "Shots."
Atwood scored all but one of his baskets by slipping under and away from the arms of his guards and the ball into the rim, clear, by side shots. The Carroll player has plenty of speed to escape in going down the floor and he rarely misses a shot.

The game of games comes Saturday when the Cardinals clash with the Troy, New York team at the Auditorium. The New Yorkers lay claim to the world's title, not having been defeated in two years and they have been playing on a tour that requires a schedule of four or five games a week against the best teams in the west. On Tuesday the Troy five play the Morris Specials, Milwaukee's crack team and on Friday meet the Broadhead five at Broadhead. Members of the Meteor team, who have seen them play, declare they are wizards on the court, but give the Cardinals some hopes of beating them.

In the second half there were four players on the floor at one time, when Dalton and Edler were jumping for the ball off the bounding board. Atwood and three of the Meteors went down in a "football" heap and Edler got the basket.

The Cardinals are considering taking a trip early in March, playing in Chicago and then going to Indiana for a series of games. Since they have been playing the Lakotas have established a reputation that has caused a demand throughout the middle west for their schedule. Chicago teams will sit up and take notice when the Meteor score is seen.

The appearance of Langdon in the game brought a round of cheers from the crowd, who well remember "Bill's" playing ability on the old Cardinal five. Langdon is an experienced player, a hard dribbler, a sure shot at the basket and does not sacrifice team work to try and score. Ryan showed fast improvement Saturday night, holding his man to one basket and staying back for the defense.

More than one of the Meteor five tried to block Edler in the dribbles, but it took about three of them to even make him turn out of a straight course. When they collided invariably Edler was the only one to stand up because of his short and powerful physique.

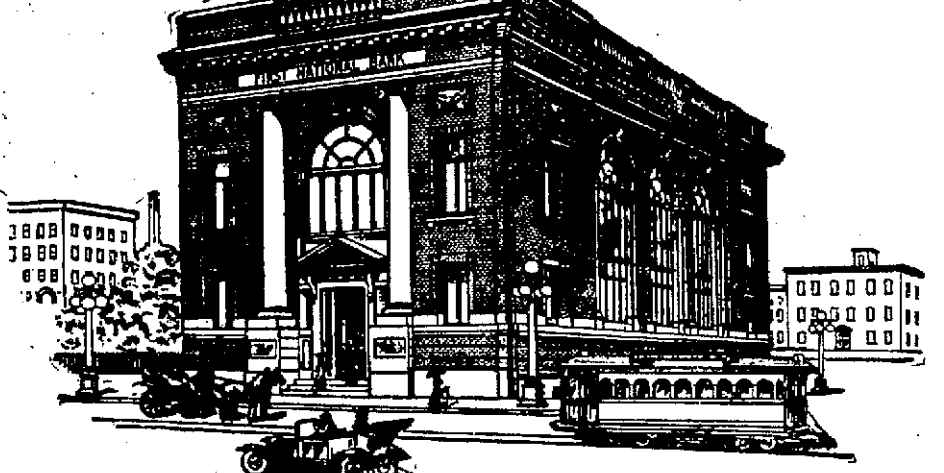

The Meteors were weak on guarding, only having one man down the floor to watch for long passes and dribbles.

Slavery Originated in the East.
Absolute slavery seems to have appeared in the eastern colonies somewhat earlier than in the southern, for slavery existed in New York in 1628. In New Jersey in 1628, in Massachusetts in 1630, in Connecticut in 1631 and in Delaware in 1636. There was a statutory recognition of slavery in Massachusetts in 1641, which was considerably ahead of such recognition of slavery in Virginia or Maryland.

FIRST NATIONAL

FIRST NATIONAL CIGAR

A FINE NEW CIGAR FOR JANSVILLE SMOKERS

Made For The Smoker Who Knows A Good Cigar

It has taken six months to bring this cigar to its present state of perfection. Now we offer it to discriminating Jansville smokers as the best cigar on the market.

Two Sizes 10c Straight and 3 for 25c At All Dealers

THE FIRST NATIONAL CIGAR is a pure Havana full length Havana filled cigar with a wrapper of imported Java tobacco. The blend is a delight to the cultivated taste; it strikes the right average being neither too mild nor yet too strong.

The full length filler causes the cigar to draw easily and burn evenly all the way down. The aroma brings out hitherto unknown smoke satisfaction.

TRY ONE TOMORROW

The FIRST NATIONAL CIGAR will be on sale at all first class dealers. Ask your tobacconist for some tomorrow. Give them a good trial and you'll find such smoke joy in them that you'll smoke no other kind henceforth.
